

Hand for every tear by James & Co.

Did you ever try to go, where you've never been before?

Did you ever feel so low, like you've never felt before?

Did you ever take a train, just because you had to leave?

Did you ever board a plane, just because you had a grief?

Chorus:

There's a sun after the rain!

There's a cure for every pain!

There's a hand for every tear!

There's a friend, who might be near!

Did you ever swallow pride after trying hard in vain?

Did you ever take a ride just to wash away the stain?

Did you ever walk away, even though you had to stay?

Did you ever see the light in the middle of the night?

Chorus:

There's a sun after the rain!

There's a cure for every pain!

There's a hand for every tear!

There's a friend, who might be near!
